

LEST WE FORGET

BARB AGGAR PHOTO/Westside Weekly

Pastor Jonathan Astmus, above, delivers Remembrance Day services at the Westbank Cenotaph. A crowd bundled up against the cold weather to mark Remembrance Day at the Westbank Cenotaph, top, Dennis Rourke, below, places his grandfather's military cap on the Westbank Cenotaph on Remembrance Day. Earl Rourke signed up with the Calgary Highlanders and was hit three times in the Second World War. Dennis said his grandfather, who died at 96, was his hero.

Ron Green wears his father's medals to the Nov. 11 ceremonies at Westbank Cenotaph. His father came out of the military at the end of the Second World War just as Green joined. Green lost two uncles in the First World War and two uncles in the Second. Below, Gordon Ficke of Historic Westbank Association plays the Last Post.

BARB AGGAR PHOTO/Westside Weekly

Betty Hersey pauses after laying a wreath on behalf of the Hewlett family at the Westbank Cenotaph on Remembrance Day. Right, Ryan MacNeil helps his daughter Leila place a poppy at the Westbank Cenotaph following a wreath laying ceremony Remembrance Day. The family makes it a point to always attend Remembrance Day ceremonies.